

What makes a Junior Consultant at ProStrategy

- You're excited by the intersection between people and technology.
- You love solving business problems with analytics technology.
- You can challenge the status quo and introduce new concepts and best practices
- You're investing in continually developing your soft skills
- You enjoy working in the analytics space, and understand the value it can offer
- You are accountable for what you do, and aware of your personal and the ProStrategy brand

Your background might look like this

- Worked as a consultant for Microsoft or a Microsoft Partner, or on the MS BI/Analytics stack in a large Multinational
- SQL server on premise or Azure design and build experience
- Implemented SQL/PowerBI analytics solutions
- Used to working under pressure and having to prioritise.
- Customer Facing Capability and Presentation Skills
- Technical Experience in the following
  - Mandatory
    - SQL Database
      - Creating, Updating
      - ETL fundamentals
    - Database design and modelling
    - Power BI
      - Admin, Security, Role, Workspace Mgmt
      - Modelling including time intelligence
      - DAX
      - Dashboard and Report Design
      - Data Query Methods and Transformations
  - Preferably
    - Azure SQL DB
    - Azure Data Factory
    - Visual Design Thinking

What will you be doing?

- Implementing SQL/Power BI Analytics Projects
- Leading smaller project implementations independently but with support
  - Designing and build
- Participating in the build of high performance analytics projects as part of a team
- Continually upskilling and staying abreast of industry trends and practices
- Transferring your expert knowledge through formal training delivery or workshops.
- Bringing attention to detail to everything you do.

The small print

- You may be on customer site several days per week within Ireland
- We anticipate a lot of your work can be done remotely, mainly from the Citywest office
- The balance of your time will be in our home office, Citywest, working on internal projects, coaching or development.
- We support flexible working – i.e. from home

Why you should come and work for us

ProStrategy is passionate about the value analytics can deliver for our customers. We continually invest in our people and technology to enable this and are keen to have strong team members shape and drive our future growth.